History:

In 1977 two students were given an award from CEMA (now CASL) for creating an outstanding film. The two students, Marc Johnson and Charles Searle, asked CASL to resume the award to encourage students to think seriously about film and video careers. They will contribute a prize of $250 per year to the winning group of video/ film producers.

Judging Criteria:

The purpose of the award is to honor students who demonstrate in a video and or film production a level of information and technology literacy skills that will enable them to:

- * Communicate information and ideas
- * Demonstrate responsible, legal and ethical use of information and technology by acknowledging copyright
- * Use technology tools to enhance learning, increase productivity and promote creativity

Specific categories are:

Attractiveness, Organization, Presentation, Content, Documentation, Mechanics, Requirements (Meets the requirements of the assignment for which the video / film was created)
